Re: Formal Clarification on EMC Product Supply and Market Misinformation

Dear Valued Customer,

Elite Material Co., Ltd. (“EMC”) has recently learned that there are false market information/speculations circulating in Europe and the United Kingdom, including the rumor that our product EM-370(Z) is being phased out in Asia and that its future availability may be limited.

EMC hereby formally clarifies that such statements are incorrect and do not reflect EMC’s actual product or supply position.

EMC confirms that EM-370(Z) remains active product lines within EMC’s portfolio. EMC will continue to supply these materials to customers in Europe, the United Kingdom, and other global markets, subject to normal order processing, production planning, and agreed commercial terms. As of today, there is no plan to discontinue or phase out EM-370(Z).

With respect to E-glass fabric supply, EMC acknowledges that the global E-glass market remains tight due to strong demand. However, EMC has been working closely with qualified suppliers to secure additional supply allocation. Our suppliers continue to increase their support to EMC, including additional E-glass supply from Nan Ya and other approved sources. EMC is actively managing raw material availability to support customer demand and maintain continuity of supply.

EMC believes a rumor-mongering company will be condemned by the industry and will be eliminated by the market. Additionally, EMC reserves all rights to take further necessary and appropriate actions to protect our reputation, customer relationships, and business interests.

EMC would like to take this opportunity to stress the importance of doing business with integrity, and encourages all customers to verify any information regarding EMC products, supply status, or commercial arrangements directly with us or our authorized representatives. EMC remains fully committed to transparent communication, stable supply, technical support, and long-term cooperation with our customers, as always and indeed!

EMC sincerely appreciate your continued trust and support.

Sincerely,

Overseas Sales Center
